DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a, e) as being anticipated by Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238).

With regards to claims 1 and 8 Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses a method & computer readable instructions for managing a testing task, said method comprising:

receiving a plurality of test cases to run, each test case including a plurality of requirements for running said respective test case; (Page 2, Paragraph 0043) receiving an identification of a group of available test systems on which to run said test cases; (Page 2, Paragraph 0037)

for each test case, determining a list of applicable test systems from said group that satisfy said requirements of said respective test case; (Page 1, Paragraph 0010) automatically selecting and starting test cases to run based on each respective list and said available test systems so that as many test cases as possible are run in parallel; (Page 1, Paragraph 0013) and when any test case finishes running and releases a test system to said group of available test systems, automatically selecting and starting an additional test case to run if possible based on said respective list and said available test systems. (Page 1, Paragraph 0014)

With regards to claims 2, 9 & 17, Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses for each available test system, determining a plurality of attributes of said respective available test system. (Page 2, Paragraph 0034)

With regards to claims 3, 10, and 18, Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses keeping track of a status of each test case. (Page 1, Paragraph 0016)

With regards to claims 4, 11 and 19, Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses completing said testing task when test cases that could have run on said available test systems have finished running. (Page 3, Paragraph 0048)

With regards to claim 5, 12 and 20 Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses displaying results of said test cases. (Page 3, Paragraph 0046)

With regards to claims 6, 13 and 21 Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses automatically selecting and starting test cases to run includes: for each test case, creating a real test system name file. Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) teaches using "the required testing files" (Page 3, Paragraph 0051) therefore it would be within reasonable interpretation for one skilled in the art to name or some method of identifying these files in order to differentiate between the plurality of files.

With regards to claims 7, 14 and 20 Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses initializing a work directory for each test case. (1000; Refer to figure 2)

With regards to claim 15, Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses system comprising:

a plurality of available test systems; (Refer to figure 1) a controller for controlling said available test systems;(4000;Refer to figure 1)

a test driver for receiving a plurality of test cases, each test case including a plurality of requirements for running said respective test case, wherein said test driver matches said available test systems with said test cases based on said requirements, and wherein said test driver selects and starts test cases to run so that as many test cases as possible are run in parallel based on said available test systems and said requirements. (Page 1, Paragraph 0011-0014)

With regards to claim 16, Hsieh et al. (USPUB 2003/0093238) discloses when any test case finishes running and releases a test system to said group of available test systems, said test driver selects and starts an additional test case to run if possible based on said respective requirements and said available test systems. (Page 1, Paragraph 0014)

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Hori et al. (USPN 6,778,934) teaches automatic measuring apparatus, automatic measurement data processing and control apparatus, network system and recording medium of automatic measurement processing and control program that selects from a plurality of test conditions, Eden et al (USPUB

Art Unit: 2863

2005/0021274) teaches a method and system for information handling system automated and distributed test, and Inda et al. (USPN 6,792,396) Interface device and method for a monitoring network
